JA Companies To Liquidate Business Now

Junior Achievement companies in the Southwest Los Angeles area are entering the final stages of their 1960-61 fiscal year at peak business efficiency in an effort to make their annual liquidation pay dividends to all stockholders, according to Manny Wise, Junior Achievement District Manager for the Southwest District.

Physical assets of all teenage business group operating under the Junior Achievement learn-by-doing business training program was to be converted to cash not later than May 18 and a report of liquidation must be issued to each stockholder who holds one or more 50 cents share in one of the enterprises, Wise explained.

"The closing of the books of these groups rounds out a full year of business experience for the young men and women who started last year with an idea, then sold stock to capitalize a business venture based on the idea. Between capitalization and final liquidation they will have had an opportunity to experience each step in the development of a corporate business structure.
